

POLL: Business Support for Minimum Wage and Paid Leave

A recent poll commissioned by the US Council of State Chambers of Commerce and conducted by LuntzGlobal of Chamber members found that C-level executives and business owners surveyed across the country overwhelmingly support worker-friendly policies, such as a higher minimum wage and expanded Paid Family and Medical Leave. bit.ly/2ac9GBf

73% of Chamber members said they support more paid sick time for personal use and to care for sick relatives.

72% of Chamber members said they support increasing parental leave.

Leaked documents show strong business support for raising the minimum wage By Lydia DePillis April 4, 2016

“That’s where it’s undeniable that they support the increase,” LuntzGlobal managing director

David Merritt told state chamber executives in a webinar describing the results, noting that it squares with other polling they’ve done. “And this is universal.

If you’re fighting against a minimum wage increase, you’re fighting an uphill battle, because most Americans, even most Republicans, are okay with raising the minimum wage.” wapo.st/2miOlx4

80% of Chamber members support an increase in the minimum wage
